LEVESON INQUIRY INTO THE CULTURE, PRACTICE AND ETHICS OF THE PRESS

EXHIBIT DC2

This is the exhibit marked "DC2" referred to in the witness statement of David Cameron dated 4 May 2012.

Notes on the meetings I had with media figures as Leader of the Opposition

1. The list of meetings I had in Opposition has been compiled from electronic and manual searches of the diary that set out each day's meetings and engagements for the period I spent as Leader of the Opposition.
2. It is worth noting that this diary covers four and a half years and thousands of entries. It was begun six and a half years ago and finished two years ago. Whilst every care has been taken in compiling the list of meetings below, given this volume of information and the fact that it was never intended to be a definitive record of my time as Leader of the Opposition, it is possible that it may still contain inaccuracies.

Notes on the list

3. My office has attempted to produce as comprehensive list as possible of every interview I had with media organisations as Leader of the Opposition and any other meeting or contact I had with proprietors and senior executive and editorial staff, including political editors, along with the general nature or purpose of each meeting
4. However, the following factors will prevent this list from being fully comprehensive:
  - a. My diary only recorded intended meetings for each day and so may have incorrectly recorded some meetings which did not in fact occur (for example, due to last minute cancellations) and similarly may not include some meetings which did occur (for example due to last minute arrangements).
  - b. It was primarily a diary for my professional commitments and therefore it would not necessarily have listed every social occasion where I would have met figures in the media nor when I met friends who are media figures.
  - c. Where it does include social commitments, I have included the event if my diary records it as being hosted by a media figure, or where I believe there would have a number of media figures present.

- d. As this diary was solely for internal use among the few people who had access to it, the entries are often not as specific as in the diary kept of my engagements as Prime Minister. This means that sometimes my diary will not have recorded the name of the individual who was due to interview me but just the name of their media organisation. Sometimes even the name of the organisation will have been missing and it will be simply listed as, for example, 'media editors' or 'media'. This means that some entries will simply have, for example, 'The Daily Telegraph', 'media editors' or 'media' listed in the 'name of individual/organisation' column rather than a person's name.
- e. There is no central record of which media organisations journalists worked for between 7 December 2005 and 6 May 2010, nor which position they held at each organisation. This means that, in the cases where my diary does not name the media organisation of a journalist, my office has had to piece together their career history using publicly available sources. While every effort has been made to ensure the professional affiliations below are correct, inaccuracies may have occurred.
- f. The Inquiry's definition of which types of media figures were required for disclosure (media proprietors, senior editorial and executive staff, and political editors) provided for some ambiguity over which journalists should be included. For example, it raised the question of whether meetings I had with deputy editors, section editors, and political editors of regional newspapers should be included. In the interest of as full a disclosure of meetings as possible, I therefore decided to include (alongside proprietors, editors and political editors): associate editors; deputy editors; section editors; regional political editors; and senior broadcasters (for example, news anchors). However, there may be some cases where none of these criteria are met but the media figure is senior and significant enough to merit inclusion on the list (for example, some newspaper columnists).
- g. My diary does not cover the five day period between the 2010 General Election and becoming Prime Minister. However, I cannot remember meeting any media figures in that time and none have been listed for that period here.

- h. There is a small number of journalists who are close friends of mine and who I see so frequently that I have not included them systematically in these lists, namely Daniel Finkelstein, Alice Thomson and Sarah Vine from The Times, Xan Smiley and Christopher Lockwood from The Economist, and Robert Hardman from The Daily Mail. While my contacts are mainly social, they are also people with whom I discuss politics and particular projects, such as speeches.
