Dear Sir
Derek Frank WEBB
Thank you for your letter concerning the institute. I am very pleased to herewith fi knowledge of Derek.	above named applicant for membership of your arnish you with some details of my personal
Derek and I joined the police service on to completed thirty years service in June of capacity with now, to my knowledge, self-employed.	he same day as police cadets in I last year and retired to be re-employed in a civilian I am aware that Derek also retired this year and is

Derek was a career detective in the police service. He attained detective constable status very early in his career, at a time when early entry into CID was unusual. He achieved this by being an energetic and industrious uniform constable and he continued in this manner as a CID officer working on division. He was extraordinarily active in whichever area or department he operated and was renowned for his arrest-rate and general successes.

Derek progressed to the force Central Detective Unit and later to work with C11 department at New Scotland Yard. He carried on his career path into Regional Crime Squad and operated in a number of branch offices in the south east of the country. During all of these secondments I maintained contact with Derek – indeed worked alongside him on Regional Crime Squad duties. His attitude never changed from the day he was a uniform constable on shift. He has always been driven towards achieving any goal or objective set before him, but achieving those aims in a fair and ethical manner. Whether Derek was engaged in covert work or overt arrest/interview assignments, his professionalism was rarely matched.

Derek returned to force after competing his secondment to The South East Regional Crime Squad and was assigned to duties that involved sensitive source handling in a busy Hertfordshire division. He excelled in this work. I am able to say this with absolute assurance, as I supervised him for some of that period. My supervisory role was, frankly, simply one of position. Derek's experience and skill within the area if work that he and I were engaged was greater than my own; there was little I could teach him.

Derek has operated in covert as well as overt policing over a number of years. He has much expertise in these areas. He has an excellent working knowledge of the law, such as it relates to surveillance, criminal prosecutions and disclosure issues. He is a very practical operative practically m	enough to know that good knowledg inded, but ultimately a liability, from ically and legally.	e of legislation distinguish those whose who operate l	es those who ooth effective

him. He has t his main prio	mily man and has been married to wo sons and a daughter and has alwa rity. To be able to say this about some vork says a lot about the individual.		ment as bei fully recomm	ased to be able to provide this backgr end him to your institute. Should you ny home address or on one of the con	need to contact me further	please feel
