

Statement by Lord Wakeham following the High Court's verdict regarding the case brought by Anna Ford

This is an extremely good judgement for self-regulation and the work of the Commission. I am delighted that the court has recognised and underlined the importance of the PCC in dealing with privacy matters where conflicting rights need to be balanced.

ENDS

31 July 2001